

Endless Mountains Church of Christ

On Wednesday Sandy and Arthur were in Tunkhannock to meet the group who traveled from Alabama to lay the groundwork for the upcoming mission to plant the church in Wyoming County, PA. We met for Bible study at the home of Molly and José Rivera in Nicholson, ten miles from Tunkhannock. It was decided to encourage the locals to choose an appropriate name for the new church and Molly quickly suggested "Endless Mountains Church of Christ". Everyone loved that idea. Don Myers commented that this was an historic meeting.

Earlier in the day the group had met with Kelly Faigle a representative of GEM 104 radio station and along with helping craft an advertising schedule for the new church, she offered a lead for some premises that were available for rent. Kelly is very interested in learning more about the church.

The rental premises are in a good location and are owned by a father and sons who definitely want to get involved with the church. Negotiations are ongoing as to whether this will be the meeting place, but this was another extremely encouraging encounter.

We spent some time at the Wyoming County Chamber of Commerce where Gina enthusiastically shared her wisdom and expertise with us. Gina is also interested in visiting the church with her children.

Tunkhannock is proving to be a welcoming community that is fertile soil for the gospel of Christ. Our God is proving, as always, to be a faithful God.

That meets at 215 South Thomas Ave, Sayre, PA 18840
